What makes amazing park
and recreational
spaces?

How do we best
integrate and include
supportive housing
tenants?

What does a good
development
within the Holder
community space
look and feel like?

How does a unique and
innovative housing
model make you feel?

A big thank-you to you for being vocal about the Holder development. Our primary aim over the last few weeks has been to foster a positive relationship with the government and open important channels of communication. Through these many voices to the government, dialogue with them has been made possible.

We now feel more confident that the Holder community will have its voice heard in a collaborative process that will shape positive outcomes.

As a way of formally starting that conversation, we recently took part in our first workshop with representatives from the government, the Taskforce and the Weston Creek Community Council to look at how to work together on achieving our aims. The record is available at:

<http://www.economicdevelopment.act.gov.au/urban-renewal/public-housing-renewal/better-housing/replacement-housing-locations/holder>

We have developed and agreed with the government some key principles that will form the basis of our collaboration and enshrine the hope for this positive outcome. These principles represent what you, the community, have told us is important to you - including the needs of new and existing residents, protection and enhancement of the green space, the integration and inclusion of new tenants, as well as community involvement throughout the process.

Over the coming weeks, we will be taking part in further workshops and meetings to develop a vision, which we will bring back to the community for your feedback. Come along to this event to input ideas and let us know what is important to you.

Please continue to engage with the MLAs by letter, email and at pop up offices etc - if they know residents are interested in a positive outcome it will help us in our meetings; sign up to our Facebook page...
